FY 2019-2021 Strategic Plan for the

Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee

APPROVED JUNE 19, 2018

Destination Vision and Organizational Mission

The Leon County Tourism Development Council (TDC) and the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee, the County's official Destination Marketing Organization (DMO), exist to increase and enhance the region's visitor economy.

When TDC members met on the 9th of April, 2018, to discuss and ideate the future growth and direction for the destination and the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee, they first reviewed the existing Vision and Mission statements to ensure they remained accurate and relevant. Thoughtful discussion and evaluation followed and the revised statements below are being presented for the TDC's consideration:

NEW Vision for the Destination:

The Tallahassee Region will be recognized and appreciated as one of the most diverse and vibrant destinations in the Southeast.

NEW Mission of the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee:

To enhance the region's economic growth and quality of life by collaboratively inspiring the vitality of Tallahassee's Visitor Economy.

The destination Vision is what Leon County aspires to be in the eyes of the TDC. The Mission statement identifies how the Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee works to achieve that Vision.

TDC Members have committed themselves to the three year goals and objectives in the FY 2019-2021 Tourism Strategic Plan in order to inspire innovative growth of the community and provide expert counsel to the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC). The goals align with Leon County priorities, economic goals, community desires and industry needs to create a synergistic plan to grow the region's visitor economy and enhance the quality of life for all residents of Leon County.

The goals and strategic initiatives on this page are included in the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) FY 2017-2021 Strategic Plan. Each year, the County updates its Strategic Plan as the County continues to evolve, engage and execute the strategies.

FY 2019-2021 Strategic Plan

Executive Summary

The Strategic Planning Process

In developing the new three-year Strategic Plan, the Leon County Tourism Development Council (TDC) designed a collaborative process to gather a broad understanding of resident needs and expectations to ensure that its future work would increase visitor spending consistent with the County's priorities, economic goals, community desires and industry needs.

Working through DMOproz, the TDC reached out through online surveys, face-to-face interviews with community and governmental leaders and focus groups of industry stakeholders. Almost 300 points of view were registered in the intelligence gathering portion of the strategic planning process - more than 190 individuals responded to the online survey and over 100 interfaced directly with Mr. Bill Geist, president of DMOproz, the principle consultant on this project. This level of community input was invaluable in the TDC's ultimate decisions on its recommended path forward with this Strategic Plan

The TDC met on the 9th of April, 2018, to discuss and ideate the future growth and direction for the destination and the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee. During their time together, TDC members considered research that identified the realities of the present and the visions for tomorrow, as they considered new ways to increase visitor spending throughout the county.

This document was developed after a substantive discussion of present environments, threats and opportunities that followed online surveys of industry partners and stakeholders, as well as individual conversations and focus groups with community and government leaders, to better understand the expectations of and opportunities before the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee and the destination. The subsequent goals developed in this document are designed to power future discussions and actions of the TDC, community leaders and industry stakeholders to develop collaborative opportunities to enhance the impact of visitor spending in the region.

FY 2019-2021 Tourism Strategic Plan Contains Four Main Goals:

- Advocate for destination enhancing development
- Enhance the awareness, interest and support of Leon County's visitor economy
- Work to enhance the visitor experience throughout Leon County
- Analyze opportunities to increase the marketing budgetary resources of the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee

Abbreviated Destination Assessment of Leon County

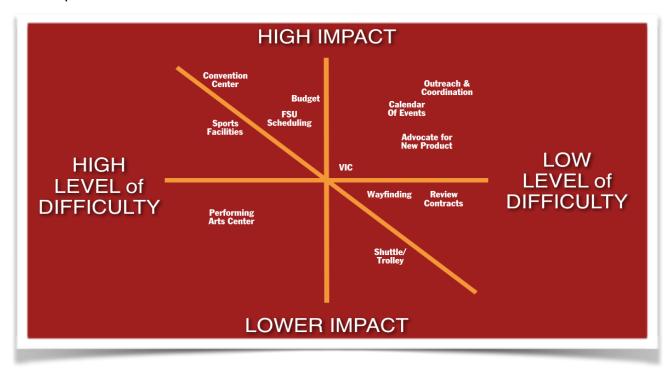

Lead consultant Bill Geist toured the area in April to better understand the changes in the destination from his previous visit to Leon County in 2009 as the consultant that developed Leon County's initial Tourism Strategic Plan. Significant enhancements to the destination have since occurred – with many new hotels and restaurants, and thriving new "districts" (i.e. Gaines Street/College Town, Midtown, Uptown, etc.) have been established providing enhanced entertainment and dining options throughout the community, each with unique qualities targeting different market segments. Success in the Sports marketing area continues to grow exponentially, especially hosting Cross Country championship events, and has elevated the destination profile. Additional hotel developments are currently planned, a Convention Center is again in discussion with $20 million in public funds committed, along with numerous enhancements to parks and outdoor amenities are in various stages of implementation. Further, extensive stakeholder feedback indicates the tourism industry, community organizations, and local leadership have a favorable view of the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee as the Destination Marketing Organization (DMO) and illustrates a very effective transition from a non-profit DMO in 2009 to a successful government DMO. One comment received in the feedback fully encapsulated the overall thought of community stakeholders: "We are at a Tipping Point. This is our Moment."

TDC Review of Opportunities

TDC discussions during the first half of the Strategic Planning Workshop focused on potential opportunities expressed during the extensive intelligence gathering and were developed for further consideration in the list below in no particular order. This list of opportunities served as a guide for discussion with prioritization indicated on the following page.

- Convention Center
- Performing Arts Venue
- Shuttle/Trollies
- Increase Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee Marketing Budget
- Further develop the Destination's Calendar of Events
- Increase Outreach & Coordination with Tourism Industry and Residents
- National Tournament-Grade Sports Complex and developing emerging sports leagues
- Advocate for New Product Development
- Visitor Information Center on I-10 / Mobile Visitor Information Center
- Wayfinding Signage/Entryway Enhancement
- Work with FSU/ACC and FAMU/MEAC on Event Scheduling
- Review all vendor and grantee contracts for upgrades and ROI

Using a prioritization tool designed by Stanford researcher B.J. Fogg, the TDC then ranked each opportunity based upon impact and difficulty. After averaging the responses, the following visual representation was created.

The point of the exercise was to identify those opportunities that were deemed too difficult or not important enough (ideas that would fall to the left of the diagonal line) in order to focus on those things of more importance (those ideas to the right of the diagonal).

In this instance, one of the identified opportunities (Performing Arts Center) ended up to the left of the diagonal. While such a venue could significantly enhance the magnetism of the destination, TDC members collectively agreed that much like the Convention Center, the County did not have the resources to take the lead on this initiative. The TDC will encourage other interests to take the lead on enhancing Leon County's Arts and Cultural offerings.

The need for an additional National Tournament-Grade Sports Complex and supporting emerging sports was seen as very important by the TDC. However, the perceived level of difficulty at this point in time, given other priorities, resulted in the TDC choosing to explore various options rather than taking the initiative on as a goal and will defer to the Tallahassee Sports Council for recommended actions to move ahead.

HOW TO USE THIS DOCUMENT

This document is divided into three main sections. The first section is the Executive Summary of the TDC's Strategic Plan. This section can be shared to partners and stakeholders, as appropriate.

The second section, beginning on Page 7, contains the full Strategic Plan and identifies the program of work for the TDC and senior organizational management for its long-range future and includes suggested tactics. As some of these are competitively and politically sensitive, this section is not expressly intended to be actively distributed outside the organization.

The final section, beginning on page 14, contains a recap of the Board and Stakeholder surveys, community leader interviews, public meetings/focus groups and the discussions from the Strategic Planning Session, laying the groundwork for the Plan's Goals and Objectives. This section can be utilized for clarification or rationale for particular opportunities.

Once the TDC and BOCC has reviewed and adopted the final version of the Strategic Plan, the TDC may consider establishing a Work Group or Task Force for deeper analysis and implementation on any of the goals. This working document, reflecting the ideas and opportunities before the organization and the destination, can be used as a roadmap to guide the TDC's future work on behalf of Leon County.

SUMMARY OF TOPICS DISCUSSED AT THE PUBLIC MEETINGS

With almost 300 points of view registered in the preliminary intelligence gathering phase, two comments from the online survey stood out as the call to action for the TDC and Leon County:

"We are at a Tipping Point. This is our Moment."

"Tallahassee is Hungry to Win; Hungry to Love Itself; Hungry to Show Off."

Destination Opportunities:

- To develop a "Sense of Place" that is a source of pride for residents.
- Convention / Conference / Full-Service Hotel complex.
- More culinary and nightlife options.
- The Programming of Cascades could be so much more than it currently is.
- Encourage better Customer Service.
- Put a Visitor Center on I-10.
- Creation of a more comprehensive online Calendar of Events.
- Market our Neighborhoods / Districts as an asset.
- We need more pedestrian friendly areas; an Arts & Heritage District.
- Can we be the Festival Capital of the Southeast? Can we be America's First Christmas?
- Can we turn our 70,000 students into Brand Ambassadors.
- How to maximize 400,000 FSU Alumni. 500 Campus visits/day in Summer.
- How to get parents & graduates to return.
- Expand efforts to build a Tournament economy to Student-run and non-traditional sports events.

Destination Weaknesses:

- Lack of Airlift
- Transportation, Congestion and Parking in and around the county
- The trolley system is invisible to visitors and doesn't stop at several attractions.
- · Lack of a Convention Center
- Destination Wayfinding and Welcome points are a huge issue.
- Lack of a higher concentration of Full-Service Hotels
- Blight (and a lack of zoning enforcement) along the major corridors into our city.
- A perceived lack of things to do to retain Young Professionals.
- A Downtown that is designed for business and not as a gathering place.
- A Downtown Visitor Information Center that is closed on weekends
- A Destination Website that doesn't tell the Tallahassee Story; doesn't inspire.
- The lack of growth in the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee Budget while being faced with increasing expectations

Community Challenges:

- The community operates in a myriad of Silos, both relational and informational.
- We don't network well. We need to get the hospitality industry more unified
- We are a community that still struggles with Segregation and Diversity.
- We are socially and economically divided.
- We could be a hotbed for Music...but existing venues don't pay performers well enough.
- Lack of Performance venues. We are losing our top talent to other cities for lack of a place to perform.
- Local Media hurts our efforts. Hurts FSU's efforts. Hurts everybody. Our image impacts everyone.
- High rents are killing the entrepreneurial spirit here.
- Getting past our traditional attitude that everything here is "good enough."

The Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee:

- Needs a more robust budget and additional professional staff.
- Needs more local visibility. Locals don't have a clue as to the importance of its work.
- The Hospitality Industry needs and wants more interaction with Professional Staff.
- Hotels need more communication on Group Status, Lost Business, ROI, IDSS, etc.
- · Needs better coordination with OEV.
- Needs to be more entrepreneurial.
- Needs to be included in all community development conversations.
- Needs to be more of a "story-teller" and less of a list of things to do.
- Needs to provide assistance to develop better hotel packaging.
- Needs to better highlight the region's Arts, Cultural and Heritage offerings.

The Sports Market:

- A concern that the destination is facing a capacity issues with hotels that may block further growth in this market
- A suggestion that the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee should focus on emerging and non-traditional sports such as Disc-Golf, Mountain Biking and Student-run Tournaments are a huge opportunity.
- Could Leon County become the "Outdoor Sports Capital of Florida?"

Requests of the TDC:

- The TDC should be an Advocate for Destination Development
- Be more engaged in the current conversations surrounding branding but from a tourism destination perspective.
- Continue to review and update Event Grant rules and guidelines to achieve the highest ROI
- Fight harder against any use of the TDT that does not produce a higher ROI.

Trailahassee

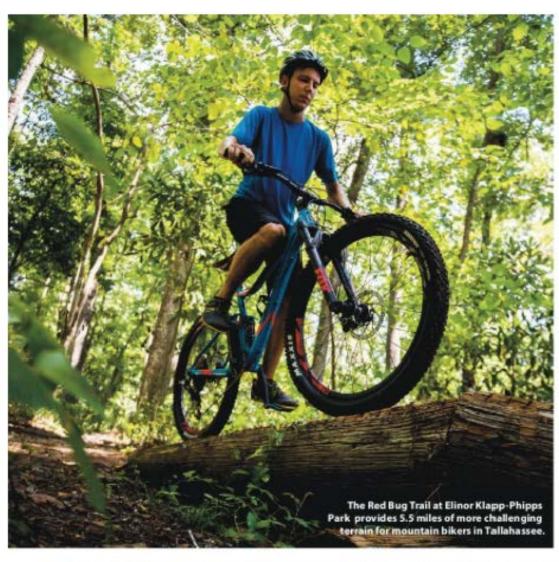

Bike, hike, paddle, drive North Florida's hundreds of miles of trails

By Patrick Connolly

ot all of Florida is flat!" reads a map detailing Tallahassee's network of trails. That becomes apparent when driving there, entering a city that has inclines and slopes very unlike other parts of the Sunshine State.

The terrain becomes even more obvious when muscling up a steep ascent on a mountain bike. But that's just part of the fun when delving into offerings surrounding "Trailahassee," the nickname given to Florida's capital for its hundreds of miles of paths to explore. "The official account is 742 miles of total trails in our area. That includes our kayaking trails, biking trails, hiking trails, walking trails," said Scott Lindeman, marketing communications director at Visit Tallahassee. "We just say over 700 because the number changes almost every week."

Tallahassee has long been known as a college and government town, but the North Florida city is now taking on a new identity with more local businesses and eco-tourism.

"We're not the beach communities, we're not the theme parks ... Our trails and all of our natural resources are woven into everything we do," Lindeman said. "The potential is there to become an eco-tourism destination. We have the support of the community at large, as well as our elected officials. We're not Orlando, and we're not trying to be."

Mountain biking, Florida style

On a sweltering summer day, I got a glimpse at North Florida's mountain bike trails with Jimmy Card, president of the Tallahassee Mountain Bike Association. Taking off from downtown, we followed tree-lined paved trails before reaching an extensive network of offroad biking opportunities.

"We have a saying here, it's ride to the ride. We hate seeing people put bikes on their cars and driving to a trailhead," Card said.

We rode along several miles of urban single-track before reaching Tom Brown Park (442 Easterwood Drive, Tallahassee), a haven for mountain bike enthusiasts. Darting between towering trees, which provided much-needed shade, I followed Card as we whisked along the Magnolia Trail. Hopping over ruts and roots, shredding through downhill sections and jumping off clay berms made my heart race with joy and adrenaline. Marked by rusty cars and hubcaps, the Cadillac Trail yielded challenges and terrain that can't be experienced in many other parts of the state. We decompressed during a shady jaunt around Piney Z Lake before rolling along a scenic boardwalk and covered bridge that crossed railroad tracks.

Then it was a race back to town to beat Florida's afternoon storms, which we narrowly avoided. Despite a broken spoke and sweatsoaked shirt, the smile never left my face.

The next day, I checked out the Red Bug Trail (4488 N. Meridian Road, Tallahassee), considered among the city's most trying mountain bike trails. Roots jutted out at every turn and rock gardens proved challenging to navigate, while switchbacks and wooden features keep riders on their toes.

For beginners, Munson Hills in the Apalachicola National Forest (5057 Woodville Highway, Tallahassee) gives families and casual riders a laid-back scenic ride.

As a lobbyist by trade, Card has worked hard during his two years as TMBA president, petitioning to expand the town's network of trails for the association's hundreds of members and the general public.

"We've probably had just shy of a million dollars in bike-related expenditures in the last two or three years, which is tremendous," he said, adding that additional tax dollars in the decades to come will be allocated for parks and trails. "Just dust the old bike off. If there's a trail near you where you can ride your bike safely, you're much more likely to do it than if you're riding on a road."

Tallahassee is also hoping to become certified as an International Mountain Bike Association Ride Center, with 72 miles of trails considered for mountain bike usage. The designation points out destinations with extensive trail networks and infrastructure to support off-road cycling, such as bike shops and breweries.

"We're just trying to make this a riding destination. It already is, we're just trying to make it better," Card said. "We're a powder keg ready to explode. It's a pretty special time here ... It's just a matter of getting it known outside of here."

A walk through the park

Although mountain biking is one focus of the "Trailahassee" mantra, hiking and running opportunities are plentiful surrounding the state's capital. In fact, many trails used by off-road cyclists are multi-use and can be enjoyed by hikers, trail runners and horseback riders as well.

Take a short drive north to Alfred B. Maclay Gardens State Park (3540 Thomasville Road, Tallahassee) to explore manicured gardens on the grounds once owned by the New York businessman. A short walk yields views of Lake Hall, a secret garden, a reflection pool and hundreds of camellias and azaleas. The park also provides access to the multi-use Lake Overstreet trails with scenic overlooks and birding opportunities along the way. Across the street, wander the 670-acre Elinor Klapp-Phipps Park (4600 N. Meridian Road, Tallahassee), which gives hikers and trail runners the chance to experience more than seven miles of dedicated footpaths.

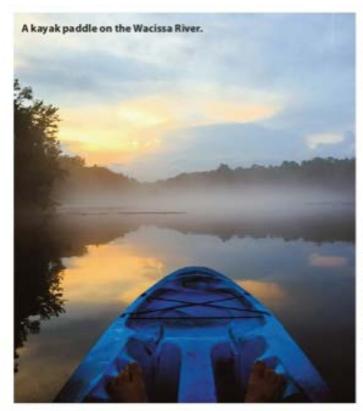

Lafayette Heritage Trail (4900 Heritage Park Blvd., Tallahassee) and J.R. Alford Greenway (2500 Pedrick Road, Tallahassee) present many miles of trails for running or hiking with shady canopies and waterfront views.

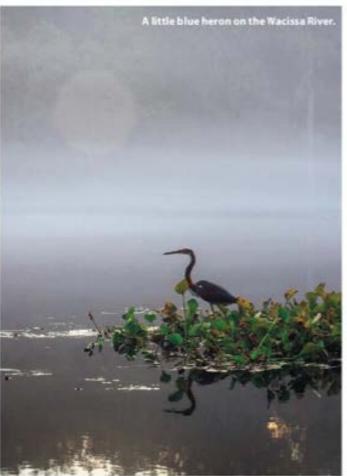

When taking off from the city, paved walkways in Cascades Park (1001 S. Gadsden St., Tallahassee) and the St. Marks Trail (4778 Woodville Highway, Tallahassee) give recreationists more than 20 miles of trail to explore.

Paddling the Panhandle

On a mild Panhandle evening, the majesty of the misty Wacissa River revealed itself to me. I launched my kayak near the cool headsprings that flow into the river right as a thin fog began to form, likely a result of warm humid air mixing with chilled waters.

I first paddled north to see rustic fish camps alongside cardinal flowers and cypress trees, scenes harkening back to old Florida.

Heading south, numerous side springs, including Big Blue Spring and Garner Springs, show themselves to curious recreationists exploring the hidden paths.

Like many of North Florida's rivers, the waterway eventually joins the Gulf. The Wacissa later meets the Aucilla River and the float could be turned into a multi-day camping adventure. Launch at 433 Wacissa Springs Road in Greenville.

The Wakulla, St. Marks, Ecofina, Sopchoppy and Ochlockonee rivers offer similarly wild and beautiful opportunities for waterbased recreation within an hour of Tallahassee.

For urban, easily accessible day trips, consider the Lafayette Passage Paddling Trail on Lake Lafayette and Piney Z Lake, Lake Jackson, Lake Hall or the Bradford Chain of Lakes.

Canopies by car

Some of Florida's roads are lined with ancient oaks that stretch their branches over cars, reaching for their siblings on the other side. In Tallahassee, there is a designation for these types of motorways: canopy roads. These seven selected driving trails encompass 78 miles lined with live oaks, sweet gums, hickory trees and pines that provide shade and scenery.

Each road has a tree protection area that includes all land within 100 feet of the road's centerline.

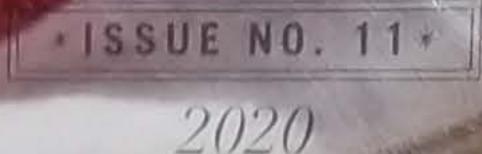

Take Meridian Road north from the city to find screnity among the canopy, or get away from town by taking Centerville or Miccosukee roads northeast. To Tallahassee's southeast, take a jaunt along Old St. Augustine Road.

However you choose to travel, "Trailahassee" provides no shortage of options for exploring Florida's natural side. And while social distancing has provided a surge of interest in trails and outdoor recreation, some think this trend is here to stay.

"We're so uniquely positioned, especially right now. When the rest of the world is shutting down, like theme parks, we didn't really shut down here," said Visit Tallahassee's Lindeman. "People are getting out and exploring. You get people out on these trails and they're not going to abandon it once things get back to a sense of normal."

Visit trailahassee.com to find trails for paddling, hiking, running, cycling, horseback and more.

Written and Photographed by Nancy Moreland

"THE BRADFORDVILLE BLUES CLUB IS HUMBLE YET HALLOWED GROUND PURISTS SEEKING A MUSICAL PATINA THAT'S FAST FADING INTO MEMORY."

As darkness gathers in the woods outside of Tallahassee, Florida, I turn onto Moses Lane. Slowing my car to a mule cart's pace, I steer between pot holes, guided by my headlights and a few tiki torches. Just when I've surely lost my way, the object of this pilgrimage appears: a cinder-block roadhouse illuminated by a roaring pallet fire.

Ever since I moved to Tallahassee, locals had urged me to visit Bradfordville Blues Club. "The BBC" as it's locally known, is one of only two Florida sites on the Mississippi Blues Trail, which highlights locations linked to the genre. "James 'Super Chikan' Johnson told me it's one of the last juke joints in the country. That's high praise, coming from a musician from Clarksdale, Mississippi," says Mike Bass, a patron from Georgia. Lil' Ed Williams, a Chicago blues guitarist, echoes the sentiment. "You only find clubs like Bradfordville here and there. I love that club and hope it never closes down."

The BBC is a vestige of the Chitlin' Circuit, a string of Southern venues deemed safe for Black musicians during the Jim Crow era. In Tallahassee, the Circuit included the now-defunct Red Bird Café. When the Café closed at 2 a.m., musicians like B.B. King and Ray Charles made their way to Moses Lane by moonlight. Arriving at a shack that served as a store by day and roadhouse by night, they sat in with local bands, picking and singing 'til sunrise.

A VENERABLE LANDSCAPE In 1964, Allen Henry, Jr. built the cinder-block building on his family's land, naming it the C.C. Club after the segregated C.C. Saints baseball team that played in an adjacent field. Allen ran the club with his wife Marion and sister Inez. Eventually, they leased the building to David Claytor who attracted acts like Percy Sledge. In 2001, Claytor turned his lease over to Gary Anton and the BBC was born. "The first time I drove up Moses Lane, it was like turning the clock back. I knew I'd found nirvana," Anton says.

Beyond blues fans, what keeps the club kicking is something every true Southerner clings to: continuity. It sits on land owned by the Henry family since the 1880s. Descendants of enslaved people, the Henrys have held gatherings here for generations. Every fall, they still grind sugar cane into syrup. "It's quite the tradition. Friends and family gather and throw a Southern feast the last weekend of the grinding," Anton says.

Ernest Henry, the self-proclaimed "Keeper of the Flame," lives on the property with his brothers. When the octogenarian isn't piling pallets on the bonfire, he's heating up the dance floor. During set breaks, the bands and fans gather around his handiwork. They feast on catfish fried in an open-air shack by the appropriately named Ernestine Fryson, affectionately known as "Miss Ernestine."

A MUSICIAN'S MECCA When I turned down Moses Lane, I left the pavement and 21st century behind. Parking in the field that once rang with cries of "Batter out!" I walk past oaks planted before the Civil War. The club sits at the end of a tarpaulin tunnel that's part rain shield, part portal to the past. Inside, the one-room juke joint pulses with 4/4 rhythm. Picking my way past patrons seated at tabletops grinning with the portraits of past performers, I take my seat. Dancers shuffle and sway under the neon blue light. "A lot of souls passed a lot of good times here," says musician John "JB" Babich.

For Babich and others like him, the BBC is a gig prized for its place in blues history, even if it's off the beaten path and below pay grade. "Musicians come from all over the world to play here," Babich says.

Kati Schardl, who covers music for the Tallahassee Democrat, recalls a band from Scotland falling "crazy in love" with the club. "They were in town performing at a festival and wanted to experience real roots music. As their de facto tour guide, that's what I gave them. That was in 2012 and they're still talking about that night at the BBC."

Tallahassee native Katie Skene played her first gig here. She now lives in Los Angeles and has performed with members of the Grateful Dead. "Gary gives musicians the freedom to try anything they like," Skene says. At a recent show, Skene sang Rita Coolidge's tribute to Robert Johnson.

She received a tearful standing ovation from Coolidge, who happened to be in the audience.

It was another of those

SOUTHERN SNAPSHOTS

"you had to be there" moments regulars rave about. As Kati Schardl comments, "Sometimes a place is more than just a place. The BBC is woven into the fabric of Tallahassee's music scene like a wild red thread. It's essential to the history of the community and the music community in particular."

SUSPENDED IN A STARRY NIGHT When the band takes a break, I step into the damp chill of a North Florida night. I head for the bonfire and Miss Ernestine's catfish, fried one filet at a time to succulent perfection. So perfect, I let it linger on my tongue before mingling the flavor with the cold tang of beer. Tonight's fireside chats lean more toward soccer games and film festivals than farming and baseball. Even so, the scene is a microcosm of all that Southerners hold dear: food, fellowship, music, and tradition.

Katie Skene calls blues music "raw and real, a living, breathing thing." The same can be said of Bradfordville Blues Club, a quirky holdout in a world hurtling toward gentrification.

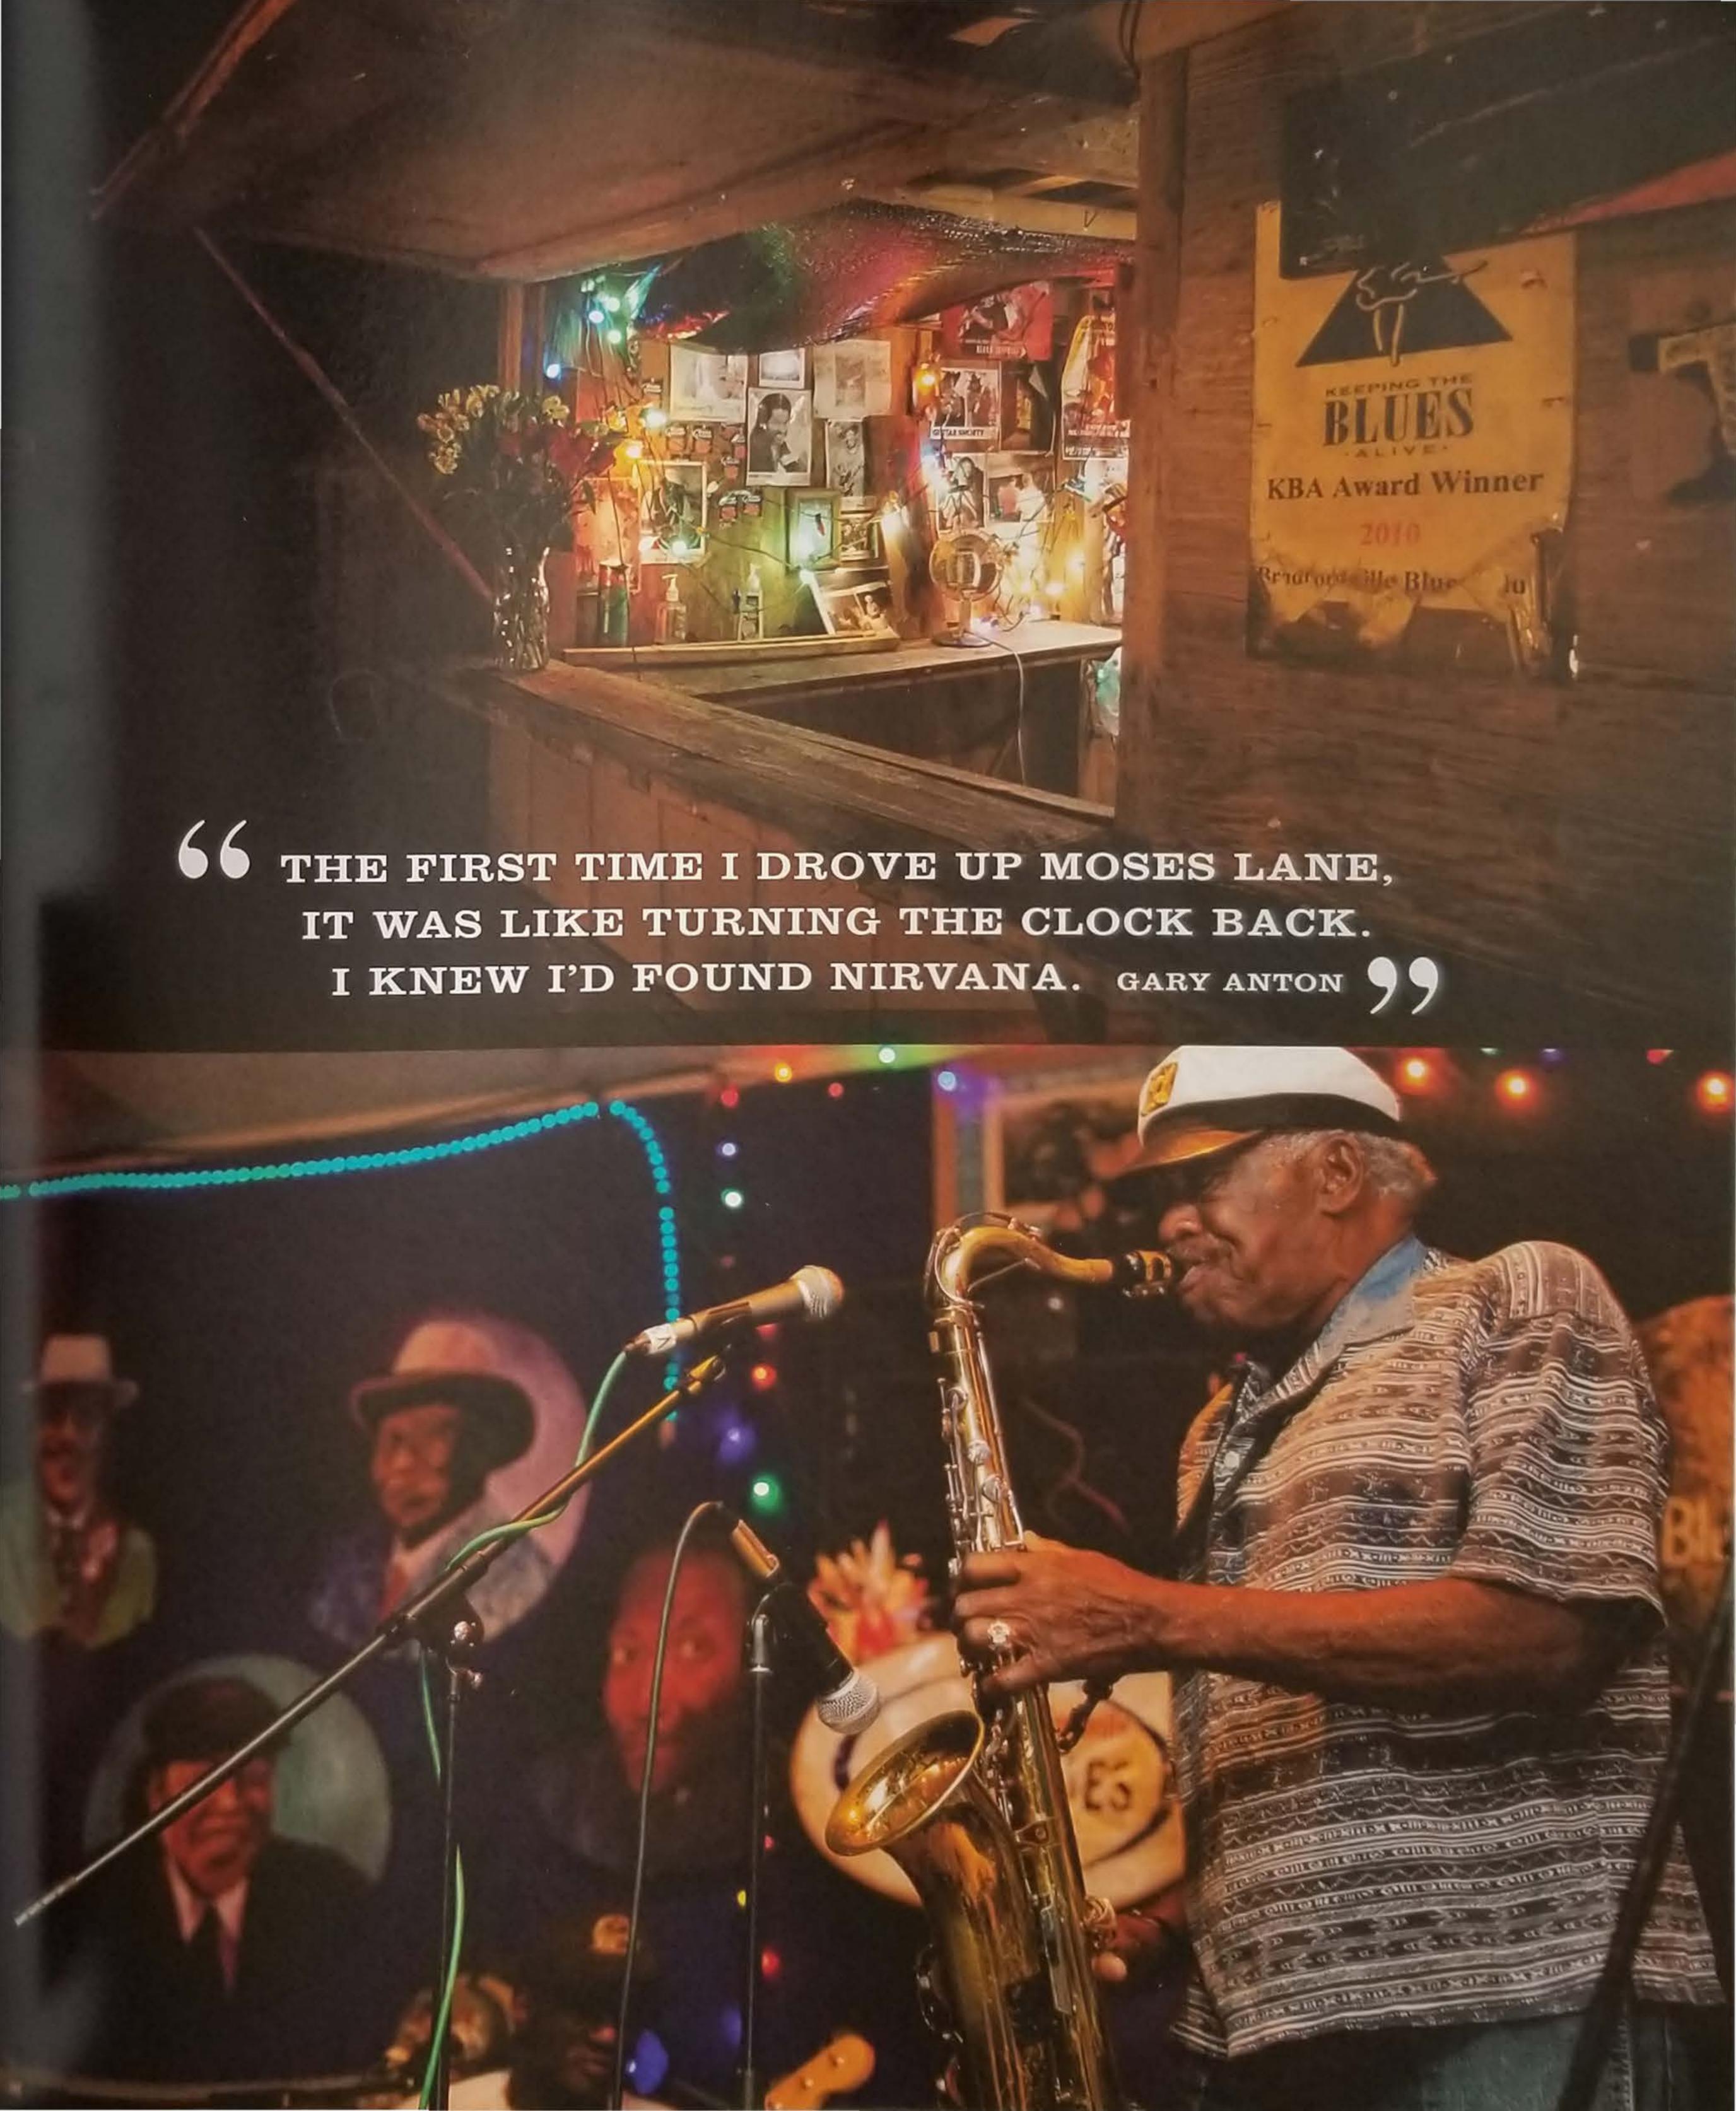

Suddenly, a slide guitar beckons me back to the dance floor. Drifting from the fire, I glance up. The night sky, draped in a mantle of Milky Way, seems to hover just overhead. It's like being inside a snow globe, if snow globes contained beer, cigarettes, and wood smoke.

Let the outside world rush toward an uncertain future. For now, I'll dance with all whoever relished the raw beauty of the blues in a tiny juke joint at the end of a dark country lane.

Intro/History of Food in Tallahassee

Florida is one of many states that provides a variety of food choices. From their navel oranges to their freshwater largemouth bass, Florida is held at the top of the list for foodie travelers. Tallahassee, which is also Florida's state capital, demonstrates what all travelers are looking for; mouthwatering Florida cuisine, comfort food with exquisite taste, or eateries with delicious desserts. From travelers to local HBCU students of Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University (FAMU), Tallahassee has enough food to share for any food lover.

Farming

Tallahassee, which is an Apalachee word for "abandoned fields" or "old town," dates back to the 17th century and represents an area where there was the ability to farm and serve as agriculturist. With many Apalachee Indians flourishing in the area early on and displaying a flair for agriculture, Tallahassee continues the legacy that was left behind and remains steadfast to farming, growing produce, and creating a way for food to be enjoyed. Tallahassee has grown its agriculture resourcefulness and has numerous farms that allows for restaurant owners to bring the farm straight to the table. Farming in Tallahassee has reshaped the way in which food is presented to local HBCU students, community members, and travelers. With so many ingredients being locally grown, restaurant owners and business owners are providing the best quality of food to their community and travelers.

Restaurants

Restaurants in Tallahassee are expected to have delicious cuisine and appetizing treats. With produce being grown fresh and locally in their back yard or neighborhood, enjoying a flavorsome dish is what all locals, students, and visitors can expect. Gurlies Lemonade & Sweets

If you are a foodie who enjoys sweets along with more sweets, Gurlies Lemonade & Sweets, is the dessert shop you must try in Tallahassee. Demetrius Murray and Marquis Williams, two African American local business mens, started this idea by selling ice-cold lemonade on a street corner in Tallahassee. The lemonade recipe, from Maquis grandmother, Gurlie Wells, was a hit in the community. Through continuous support and love of lemonade, the entrepreneurs were able to raise enough money to begin their business, Gurlies Lemonade and Sweets. Now known for serving their classic fried Oreos, vanilla ice cream with multiple toppings, and Gurlies Famous lemonade, the eatery is a place that everyone enjoys. Besides the sweet drinks and treats Gurlies Lemonade and Sweets provide, they also believe in investing into the youth. Once a month, the dessert shops invest $1,000 into a local young entrepreneur through their World Changers Mentorship Program in hopes to build stronger kids to help build a stronger Tallahassee community.
