

Locked Room Mysteries

"The locked room is an exercise in illusion - a magician's trick. Otherwise it's impossible, and the impossible can't be done, period. Since it had been done, it must be a trick, a matter of distracting attention, and once you know what you're really looking for, the answer is never hard."

- Michael Collins Nobody Likes To Be Played For A Sucker

Aird, Catherine: His Burial Too

Block, Lawrence: Even the Wicked

Brand, Christianna: Death of Jezebel

Carr, John Dickson: Devil in Velvet; Dead Man's Knock; Fire, Burn!

Christie, Agatha: And Then There Were None; Murder in Mesopotamia; Pale Horse

Crispin, Edmund: Case of the Gilded Fly; Holy Disorders; Moving Toyshop

Eco, Umberto: The Name of the Rose

Dickinson, Peter: The Poison Oracle

Greenberg, Martin & Pronzini, Bill (eds.): Locked Room Puzzles

Heyer, Georgette: Envious Casca

King, Laurie: Locked Rooms

Le Fanu, Joseph: Uncle Silas

Greeley, Andrew: Bishop at the Lake

Lovesey, Peter: Bloodhounds

Pronzini, Bill: Hoodwink

Queen, Ellery: Cat of Many Tails; King is Dead; And on the Eight Day; House of Brass

Rosenfelt, David: Sudden Death

Sayers, Dorothy: Have His Carcase

Sjowall, Maj: Locked Room

Shimada, Soji: The Tokyo Zodiac Murders

Stout, Rex: League of Frightened Men

Takagi, Akimitsu: The Tattoo Murder Case