For the past two years, I served as the Planning Director for StarMetro, the transit provider for the City of Tallahassee and Leon County. Prior to that, I served as the Director of Planning for Johnson County, Indiana (outside of Indianapolis), Senior Transportation Planner for the Gainesville MPO (Florida) and Transportation Planner for Leon County. I have extensive experience analyzing transportation impacts associated with new developments, policy decisions and behavioral changes. Additionally, I am concerned with how transportation is funded particularly the hidden subsidies given to the automobile, which has made it the prominent transportation choice today. I am an active member of my church, Toastmasters and the local chapter of the American Planning Association. I joined the American Institute of Certified Planners in 2005.
