EXPERIENCE BIO

Tim has nine years of public accounting experience, five of which were spent at national accounting firms, in providing auditing and accounting services to clients in a wide range of industries including: insurance (life, P&C, intermediaries), government, not-for-profit, manufacturing, and financial services/mutual funds. With the bulk of his experience stemming from regulated environments, Tim's concentration centers on regulated industries: Insurance and Government/Not-for-Profit. He has worked on engagements in Litigation Services / Forensic Accounting practices arenas. He is a Certified Public Accountant as regulated by the state of Florida and has obtained the designation of Certified Fraud Examiner. He has also attained his Associate in Insurance Accounting and Finance from the American Institute of Chartered Property Casualty Underwriters. Most recently, using skills from his background, he serves the business community as a change manager in which he assists organizations with in-depth accounting, business consultation and organizational management including, but not limited to, daily operations, short-term strategic positioning and long-term exit strategies. His most current project was interim CFO with a Tallahassee Internet startup to help build their financial foundation upon which they will be able to sustain their rapid development and market successes. Tim's current occupation is that of Director of Corporate Accounting at Tallahassee's own Homes & Land. With the completion of his dissertation, Tim will earn his Doctorate in Business Administration (DBA) which will allow him to continue his business mentoring as a professor in both higher education and conference/seminar arenas.
